“Metagenomic insights into the role of trace-gas oxidising bacteria in extreme environments”

Venerdì 6 ottobre ore 14,30

aula D2, via Archirafi 20 – 2° piano

Dr Marcela Hernández is an environmental microbiologist, Group Leader and a Royal Society Dorothy Hodgkin Research Fellow at the University of East Anglia, UK. She was awarded her PhD from Universidad de La Frontera, Chile, and worked as an Alexander von Humboldt Research Fellow at Max Planck Institute for terrestrial Microbiology, Germany. She studies how microbial communities establish in extreme environments, and specifically the role of CO-oxidising bacteria. <https://www.marcelahernandez.com/>
